This is down to the fact that Magura brakes use mineral oil brake fluid as opposed to DOT fluid. Since mineral oil does not absorb water from the air over time like DOT brake fluid does, the boiling temperature and performance of the fluid will not be affected thus negating the need for an annual bleed of the brake system.

Magura HS22, HS33, etc...school me! Are the older Magura hydraulic rim brakes a decent alternative for a vintage build? I rode a friend's bike with a pair in the early 90's and thought they were amazing. I can't find a timeline on what models came out when, special versions like Race Line and Tomac, etc. Are they worth the hassle?
